

To the Campus Community

Welcome to our eighth edition of "One Day at the UA", the publication that offers a 24-hour snapshot of students' experiences at the University of Arizona. This project, organized by the Dean of Students Office, involves distributing over 100 cameras to UA students to take photographs.

For the second year now, the Sophomore Class Council (SCC) of the Associated Students of the University of Arizona (ASUA) spearheaded the project. You'll notice the student voice throughout the publication, especially in the captions on each page.

Members of this year's SCC chose the theme of "The Game of Life", so each student taking a camera was asked to photograph images which reflected this theme. Participating students saw, and documented with their cameras, beauty in their surroundings, collegiality among their fellow students, and pride in being part of the Wildcat family. During the time frame cameras were handed out, the mall was a hubbub of activity with ASUA elections and Pride Week taking place, so many of these moments are captured in the following pages.

Hundreds of hours of work are necessary to produce this publication, and I'd like to thank all the students from the Sophomore Class Council who participated: they distributed cameras, interviewed fellow students, and chose which photos to include. Jamie Blanchard, the student volunteer coordinator, logged hours getting everything in order.

If you have feedback, suggestions or would like to participate in next year's publication, please email us at voice@email.arizona.edu or call (520) 621-7059.
